

There aren't any good resources to create constructed languages.

Creating conlangs (constructed languages) is a hard task especially when most online resources are lacking in quality.

Details

The in-depth process of creating a constructed language is a momentous task, especially with the difficulty imposed by the lack of up-to-date quality online resources.